□7 次の英文を読んで、a～eについて本文の内容と一致するものを①～④の中から1つずつ選びなさい。

Before you travel, what do you learn about your *<sup>1</sup>destination? There are a lot of things to find out about the *<sup>2</sup>local language, money, tourist places, and so on. These are practical, but it is also important to study something else: local etiquette. This is so that you will know the rules of daily life.

There are a couple of reasons to learn these rules. One is to show respect for the local culture. People like it when they see that. Another reason is to avoid causing problems. For instance, in many countries, it is rude to eat noisily. So, if you eat your soup like that in a restaurant, another customer might feel angry and enjoy their meal less.

It is easy to avoid many problems if you prepare. A lot of travel guides include etiquette tips. You could also go online or ask other people for advice. If you do accidentally upset someone, say sorry. Then, try to discover what you did wrong. That way, you can avoid making mistakes again.

*<sup>1</sup>destination : 目的地      *<sup>2</sup>local : 地元の

a. Before you travel, learning the rules of daily life is

- ① rude.
